

COVID-19 SCHOOL CLOSURE RESOURCES FROM BJU PRESS

March 17, 2020

Dear Partners in Christian Education,

Precept Marketing and BJU Press have been working diligently to react to the COVID-19 concerns and school closures that are significantly affecting the schools we serve. We are writing with updates about several solutions that can help schools with homebound instruction.

- Tutorial Videos and Exercises at AfterSchoolHelp.com
  - BJU Press has prepared a series of tutorial videos and exercises to review and practice key course concepts (Math: Grades 7-12 and Grammar: Grades 4-12). These exercises may provide valuable activity during at-home workdays. Students who complete exercises at home could submit screenshots of their time spent and scores as an indication of work. This website is FREE and requires no student registration to use.
- Free Lesson Videos on Teacher Tools Online
  - BJU Press is now making free lesson videos available on Teacher Tools Online. These videos will be placed on the “free resources” side, so teachers can share links to video lessons with their home study students. Please note that some videos are for previous editions (not the most current textbook edition) and will need to be reviewed for use by teachers. These videos will begin being posted on March 18. Teachers enrolled in TTO will receive emails when video resources for their courses are placed online for their use to share with students.
- Lesson Preparation Materials on Teacher Tools Online:
  - Teacher Tools Online provides a suite of options so teachers can prepare lessons from home for remote online learning. Resources include: online teacher editions for lesson preparation, pre-made, editable PowerPoints, and much more.
  - BJU Press will provide free access for any teacher currently teaching BJU Press material who doesn't currently have access to TTO. Schools can contact their Precept sales team member to order free TTO licenses for teachers.
- Review Activities with Vacation Stations
  - The BJU Press Vacation Stations program (which was designed as a summer bridge activity book for elementary students) provides two pages of math and ELA review that could be used for general grade-level activity during remote learning days. To make these resources more accessible, we will provide a 25% discount on Vacation Stations purchased before May 1. will need to place this order for schools to receive the discount.
- Online Learning Platform
  - BJU Press has additional and more robust online learning options that may be useful in certain circumstances. Precept sales team members are available to discuss these options.

We will be working to communicate directly with schools. However, please feel free to forward this information to any schools that are looking for solutions during closures. Encourage them to reach out to their Precept/BJU Press sales representative for assistance.

We are praying for you, our schools, and their students and families as we all walk this journey together!
